

STAINLESS BENCHING

Custom fabrication of stainless steel benches and features for commercial and domestic applications.

MHM works closely with joiners and architects throughout New Zealand to design and fabricate benches and other stainless or mild steel features to fit the client's kitchen design requirements.

Previously known as Mercer Stainless (established in 1884), we have extensive experience in delivering high-quality solutions for domestic and commercial environments.

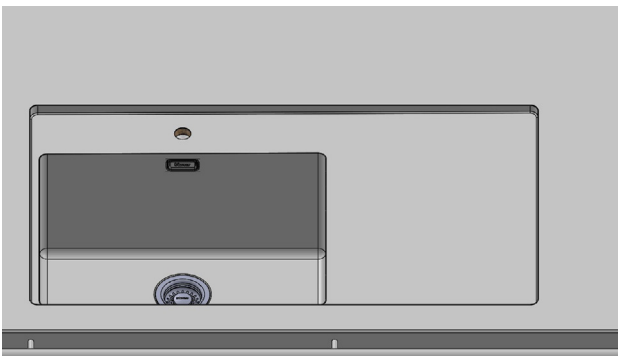

A variety of finishes and polishing specifications, edge profiles and upstands are available to achieve the look you desire, as well as ensuring a durable and easy-clean surface.
